About AICPS

Romanian Association of Structural Design Engineers - AICPS, is a non-governmental, autonomous professional organization, reuniting and representing structural design engineers in the construction industry in Romania.

As the largest structural design engineers community in Romania, it gathers 1100 active member in 30 local AICPS Branches around the country.

Our mission

Founded over 34 years ago, AICPS has the expertise and experience necessary to contribute to maintaining and improving the safety of the built environment, alongside other professional construction associations, universities, the relevant ministry with which it collaborates based on signed partnerships and all stakeholders in the construction sector.

AICPS also has active partnerships with international organizations such as IStructE (United Kingdom) and ICE (Institution of Civil Engineers - United Kingdom).

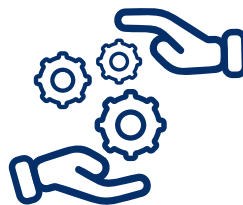

Main AICPS objectives

- Organizing of technical and scientific events; symposiums, conferences, round tables;
- Facilitating integration into the specific international scientific community;
- Promoting relevant laws, rules and regulations;
- Supporting modern technologies in line with scientific progress.

Partnerships and extended network

AICPS has built collaboration partnerships with main professional associations (OAR, F.P.S.C., A.I.I.R., ARACO, ANEVAR, ARIC, ISC, CASOC, PPC);

AICPS has started collaboration programs(internships) with student associations from specialized technical universities, having as a main objective the creation of a sustainable connection between student and the professional environment through information and knowledge exchange, respectively the promotion of good practices in fulfilling the activity of structural engineer;

AICPS has established collaboration protocols with universities, such as: Bucharest Technical University of Construction, Cluj Technical University of Construction, Ovidius Constanța University-Faculty of Construction, Technical University of Moldova-Faculty of Construction, Geodesy and Cadastre, University of Craiova-Department of Applied Mechanics and Civil buildings;

AICPS has implemented collaboration protocols with IStructE (England) and also with ICE (Institution of Civil Engineers - England);

Why join AICPS33 Conference as a SPONSOR

Supporting the event as a sponsor means choosing to join AICPS's fundamental mission – the development of a hub for structural design engineers in Romania.

- Present your products, solutions, technologies and innovations to hundreds of professionals.
- Do you have innovative ideas or want to find out how structural engineers adapt to the current context? Don't miss the chance to host your own workshop at the 33rd Conference in Cluj-Napoca!
- Build connections with top company managers in the industry, professionals from across the country and representatives from partner construction associations & academic community.
